

Environmental Commitment

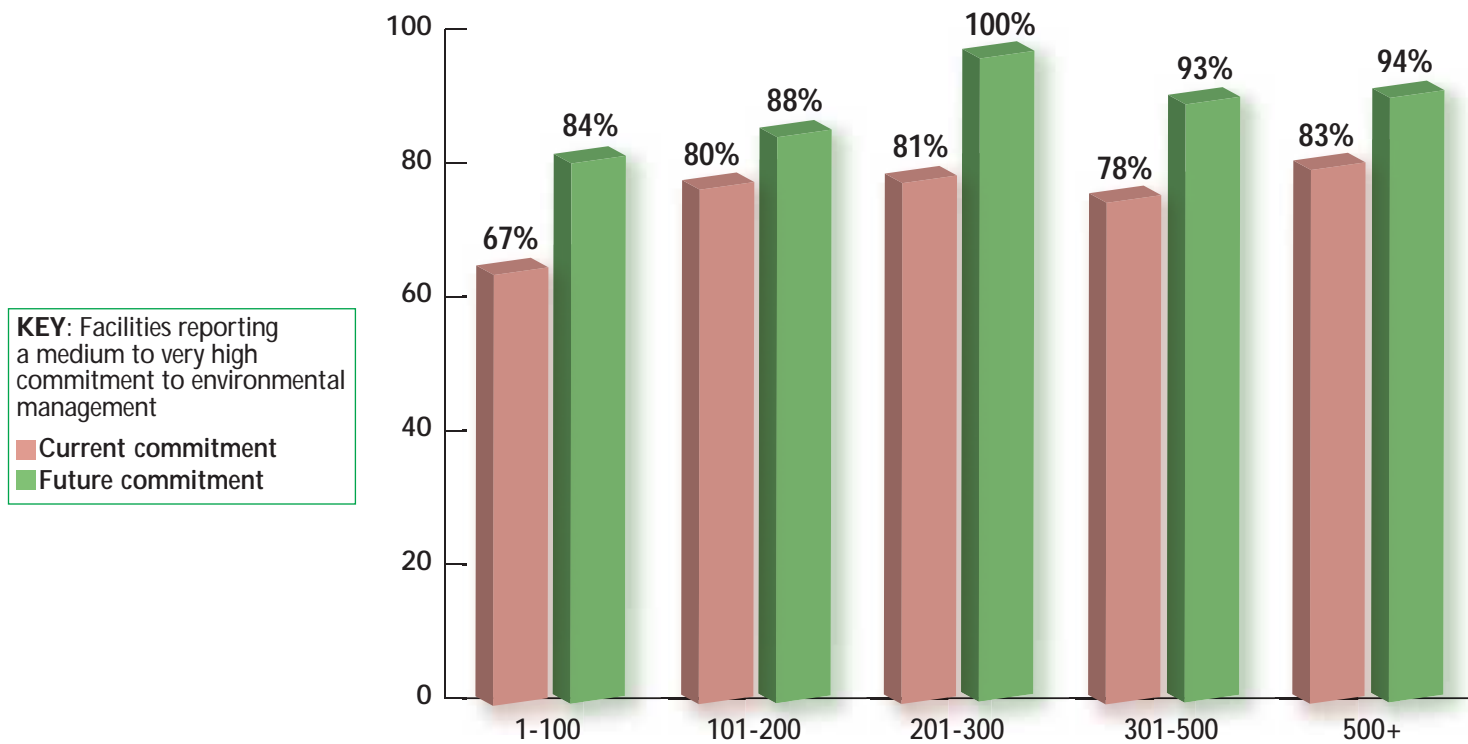

Current Prioritization of Environmental Commitment

The commitment to environmental management is very strong across all hospital sizes. Larger hospitals report a somewhat higher commitment in the near term; however, all hospitals, regardless of size, predict steady growth in their commitment to environmental management.

◀ A majority of respondents (77%) report that environmental management is a medium to very high priority for their facilities.

Current and Projected Environmental Commitment by Hospital Size (in number of beds)

KEY: Facilities reporting a medium to very high commitment to environmental management

- Current commitment
- Future commitment

▲ The current commitment to environmental management is predicted to grow even stronger over the next three to five years. While facilities with 200+ beds predict a faster movement toward this goal, smaller hospitals are not far behind.
