

Photo courtesy of
B. Braun Medical Inc

Automated Compounding Devices

The use of automated compounding devices continues to be focused mainly on larger facilities, with hospitals of 400 beds or more seeing a 9% increase over last year. Regardless of size, satisfaction with these systems remains high, as 80% of all facilities rate their compounders as good or excellent.

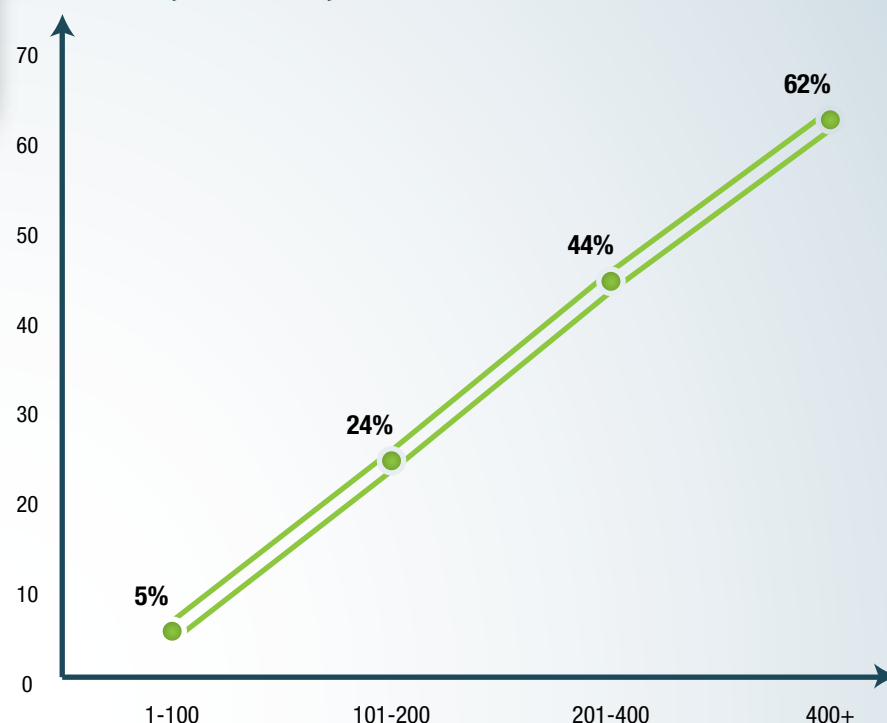

For more information on automated compounding devices, visit www.pppmag.com/info and click on Automated Compounding Devices.

Vendors in Use

▲ Baxa continues to lead this marketplace, followed by Baxter and B. Braun.

Automated Compounders in Use by Facility Size (in number of beds)

▲ Automated compounders are most commonly used in larger facilities.

User Satisfaction

▲ Automated compounders enjoy very high satisfaction rates, with 80% of users giving them top marks.

Projected Implementations by Facility Size (in number of beds)

▲ Future implementations will occur in both mid- and large-size facilities.