

FIGURE
MUSC’s IV Workflow Automation Bypass Process: Drug Preparation Phase

Recent events have highlighted the need for pharmacists to be able to track the source products for individual doses all the way through patient administration. Automated IV workflow systems close the gap by maintaining specific records for each compounded preparation.

